

CURRICULUM VITAE

Name Andrew Hippiisley
Position Professor of Linguistics,
Chair of Linguistics, University of Kentucky

ADMINISTRATIVE POSITIONS

2016- Inaugural Chair of the Linguistics Department, College of Arts & Sciences, University of Kentucky.
2015-17 Co-Director, 2017 Linguistic Society of America Linguistic Institute
2014-16 Chair of University Senate, University of Kentucky
2010-16 Director of Linguistics Program, College of Arts & Sciences, University of Kentucky
2012-13 Director of Graduate Studies, Linguistics Program, Arts & Sciences, University of Kentucky.
2006-7 Director of Graduate Studies, Computing Department, School of Engineering, University of Surrey

ACADEMIC POSITIONS

2012- Professor of Linguistics, English Department and Linguistics Department, University of Kentucky
2010-12 Associate Professor, English Department, University of Kentucky.
2007-10 Assistant Professor, English Department, University of Kentucky.
2004-05 Associate Lecturer, Linguistics Department, Cambridge University, United Kingdom.
2000- 2007 Lecturer, Computing Department, School of Engineering, University of Surrey, United Kingdom.
1997-2000 Research Fellow, Department of Linguistic & International Studies, University of Surrey.
1995-1997 Associate Lecturer, Department of Linguistic & International Studies, University of Surrey..
1992-1995 Research Fellow, Department of Linguistic & International Studies, University of Surrey.

ACADEMIC QUALIFICATIONS

1992-97 PhD in linguistics, University of Surrey. Principal supervisor Prof. Greville G Corbett (Fellow of the British Academy, Fellow of the Academy of Social Sciences), external examiner Prof. Andrew Spencer.
1991-92 MA in Russian Language & Literature (major) and Computational Linguistics (minor), School of Slavonic and East European Studies, University College London, and Royal Holloway, University of London. Thesis awarded with distinction.
1987-1991 BA (Hons) in Russian Language & Literature (major) and Ancient Greek

(minor), School of Slavonic and East European Studies, University College London.

FELLOWSHIPS

- Fellow of the Linguistic Society of America
- Fellow of the American Council on Education
- Fellow of the Southeastern Conference Academic Leadership Development Program

EXTERNAL PROFESSIONAL ACTIVITIES

- Editorial*
- General Co-Editor, Edinburgh Studies in Theoretical Linguistics
- Conference organization*
- 2017 Linguistic Institute <https://lsa2017.uky.edu>
  - Conference Patterns of Alignment in Indo-Iranian Languages: towards a typology, University of Michigan, June 2013 (with Greg Stump) <http://lsa2013.lsa.umich.edu/workshops/>
  - Workshop Defaults in Morphological Theory, University of Kentucky, May 2012 (with Nik Gisborne) <http://linguistics.as.uky.edu/defaults>

TEACHING

- University of Kentucky*
- Syntax (transformational and non-transformational), typology, computational linguistics, historical linguistics, research methods, introduction to linguistics; at undergrad and graduate levels
- University of Michigan*
- Measuring and Modeling Paradigms (2013 Summer Linguistic Institute)
- University of Surrey*
- Language engineering, software globalization, cognitive processes, systems analysis & design, Russian syntax, Russian morphology, ab initio Russian
- Cambridge University*
- Morphology (undergraduate)

GRADUATE ADVISING AND EXAMINING

- Advising*
- Numerous MA committees, chair and member, University of Kentucky; University of Surrey
  - Chair, PhD committee, for two students at the University of Surrey
- Examining*
- PhD in Philosophy, University of Kentucky
  - PhD in Communications, University of Kentucky
  - PhD in Linguistics, University of Calgary
  - PhD in Linguistics, National University of Modern Languages, Pakistan

SERVICE (see resume for details)

University of Kentucky

- University Senate Chair, 2014-2016
- University Senate Council, from January 2013;
- Teaching Effectiveness Steering Group, co-chair, 2015-2016
- Diversity and Inclusion Workgroup, 2015-2016; co-chair faculty committee
- Administrative Rules Provost Committee, 2014-16
- Curriculum Management Steering Group, chair, 2014-16
- Office for Faculty Advancement Advisory Group, 2014-16
- University Graduate Council, from 2011-2104
- University Senate, from 2010-2016
- University Senate New Programs Committee, from 2010; chair from 2011-2014
- Director of Linguistics Program, from 2010; DGS for Master's of Arts in Linguistic Theory & Typology, from 2012-2013
- Executive Committee, English, from 2010-2011; 2012-13
- External Chair Search Committee, 2010
- Faculty Merit Evaluation Review committee member, from 2009-2011
- Linguistics Program member, from 2007

LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT

- 2016-17      Fellow of the American Council on Education Fellowship Program
2017          Council on Advancement & Support of Education
2014-15      Fellow of the Southeastern Conference's Academic Leadership Development Program

RESEARCH

My main area of research is in morphosyntax where I have explored the role of morphology in relation to syntax and the rest of the grammar, syntax-morphology dissociations such as deponency, and morphology's role in word formation. I have used the Network Morphology framework as a space to set the problems that I have been working on, and to attempt to work out their solutions.

External funding

Number use in language: a quantitative and typological investigation. (1997-1998). Awarded by the Economic & Social Sciences Research Council (ESRC). Value: £40,661. Grade: 'outstanding'. (Co-investigator).

Predicting the past: reconstructing the Slavonic colour lexicon. (1998-2000). Awarded by the ESRC. Value: £86,000. Grade: 'outstanding'. (Co-investigator).

Agreement: an Investigation into the Distribution of Information. (1999-2002). Awarded by the ESRC. Value: £118,456. Grade: 'outstanding'. (Co-investigator).

The Notion 'possible word' and its Limits: a typology of suppletion. (2000-2003). Awarded by the Arts & Humanities Research Council. Value: £108,838. Grade: 'satisfactory' (this is the highest grade given; the rapporteurs' comments were excellent). (Co-investigator).

Extended deponency: the right morphology in the wrong place. (2004-06). Awarded by the ESRC. Value: £142,746. Grade: 'outstanding'. I was a consultant on classical languages and responsible for the formal implementation deliverable on the project.
